DIXON GUARDSMEN IN CAMP GRANT ON SATURDAY MORN

Dixon Soldiers Will Be Taken To World's Fair For Big Review

Company A, 134th Infantry, Illinois National Guard, of this city will leave Dixon at 7 o'clock Saturday morning, under command of Capt. Sherwood Dixon, for Camp Grant, where it will join the other units of the state's military organization for two weeks of intensive training to be followed, probably, by a journey to the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, where the entire force will participate in a reviewing parade.

The company is at full strength of 74 enlisted men, and three officers, and the popularity of the organization is attested by the long list of young men of the community who are waiting a change to enlist, as vacancies occur.

The guardsmen will assemble at the Armory Friday evening for inspection of equipment, and will spend the night in their headquarters, leaving early Saturday morning, aboard a special train on the Northwestern, which will convey them and the Sterling and Sycamore companies direct to the entrance of Camp Grant.

CLEANING UP CAMPS

Chicago, July 26—(AP)—The first contingent of the 33rd division, Illinois National Guard, moved into Camp Grant today.

Small detachments from more than a score of Illinois cities arrived at the deserted camp and started preparing for the coming of the main body of troops Saturday.

For three days, these details will fight it out with mops, brooms, water, soap, sledge hammers and shovels. Supply tents will be pitched, mess halls scrubbed and a warm meal prepared for the Saturday arrivals.

The infantry, engineers, medical and cavalry will have the camp to themselves this week, as the artillery regiments have only recently returned from Camp McCoy, Wisconsin.

The artillery only spends alternate years at Camp Grant because an artillery range is lacking.

The 202nd Coast Artillery which trained last year at Fort Barrancas, Florida, will train later this year at Fort Sheridan.

The division moves out of the Rockford area two days earlier than usual this summer to visit a Century of Progress in Chicago.

The highlights of the encampment, the annual Governor's review, will be held as part of Illinois Day at the Fair, Friday, Aug. 11.

The 66th Brigade, composed of two Chicago regiments, the 131st and 132nd infantry regiments, will be in camp without its veteran commander, General John J. Garritty. He recently retired, having reached the statutory age limit of 64 years, and the brigade probably will be commanded by Col. Francis M. Allen of the 131st infantry, the senior colonel.

Major General Roy D. Keehn will command the division in camp and will lead the grand parade through the World's Fair grounds.

Fingerprints Clear Woman Suspected In Luer Kidnaping Case

Lincoln, Neb., July 26—(AP)—Mrs. Vivian Cunningham was free today to go about the farm work she was doing when interrupted by a group of officers and whisked to Lincoln for questioning in the August Luer kidnaping.

It was her fingerprints, given willingly and freely yesterday, which cleared the 32-year-old former St. Louis woman of suspicions that she was Vivian Berry, alias Chase, wanted in connection with the Luer case and a Clay county, Missouri, bank robbery.

A picture newspaper made her neighbors suspicious, and when the Beaver Crossing postmaster reported she received mail addressed to "Vivian Berry," county, state and federal officers quickly sought her arrest.

Weighing little more than 100 pounds and dressed in a faded blue modish blue dress, Mrs. Cunningham set tense until told her fingerprints had cleared her. She then chattered gaily with the officers who escorted her back to her farm home.

HOLD TRANSIENT FOR ASSAULT TO COMMIT MURDER

George Moran, the itinerant clock and watch repairer who assaulted William Powers of Amboy with a knife Monday morning, inflicting a bad gash on the side of the aged merchant's face, was arraigned before J. M. Shauls late Tuesday afternoon and was bound over to the grand jury under bonds of $2,000 on a charge of assault to commit murder. Being unable to furnish bail he was remanded to the county jail to await action of the jury, which will convene the third Monday in September.

Rural free delivery of mail in the United States dates from 1897.

War on Kidnapers Opens on Dozen Fronts

State Realizes Need Of Route 71 Being Extended To Rock Falls, But Doubts Sufficient Funds

Committee From Lee And Whiteside Confers With Kingery

Springfield, Ill., July 26—(AP)—Robert Kingery, Acting Director of the Department of Public Works and Buildings, today told a committee from Whiteside and Lee counties that the state realized the need for extending Route 71 from Aurora west to Rock Falls.

The Director was doubtful, however, that funds for the entire project could be obtained from the $17,500,000 allotted by the federal government for road construction in Illinois as an aid to its recovery program.

Kingery told the committee, which was headed by State Representative John Devine, Dixon and Henry Allen, Lyndon, that it might be possible to obtain a small part of the cost of construction from the federal emergency fund and construct the remainder later as a regular state bond issue project. He promised the Department would consider the project in its allocation of federal emergency funds as well as in its determination of other state road construction.

The committee consisted of Devine and Allen and Ward Hunzate, Mayor Harry Burkholder of Sterling, George Grandon, editor of the Sterling Gazette, Hunter Wood, Mayor Samuel Peigley of Rock Falls, Jacob Cantlin, Mayor Paul Doty of Amboy, W. C. Weninger, Lee and Gilbert Finch.

"FORTUNE TELLER" WIDOW GIVEN 14 YEARS IN PRISON

Mrs. Vera Carl Carried From Court Room Unconscious

Chicago, July 26—(AP)—Fourteen years in prison.

Mrs. Vera Carl, 37, the woman in the "fortune teller" slaying of her husband, George, heard a jury pronounce her judgment upon her on a charge of conspiring to murder her spouse, and then fainted.

She was carried from the court room of Judge Rudolph Desort last night—unconscious—after a jury had taken a trifle less than three hours to find her guilty.

Mrs. Carl contended that her husband's death was "in the cards"—that is, that a fortune teller told her two days before he was shot to death in his grocery store on July 16, 1932, that she was going to become a widow.

The state argued, however, that Carl was put to death in a plot for Mrs. Carl to obtain the dead man's insurance. The defense counsel replied by asserting that she was merely the victim of a scheme to enable the insurance company to enable payment of the death claim, and argued in support of this contention that Mrs. Carl had not paid the extra premium for double indemnity in the event of violent death.

Two Await Trial

Ivan Grice, brother of Mrs. Carl and her alleged lover, John Milosic, are now serving 10 years for their alleged parts in the plot. Joseph Fess, accused by the state of having been the actual slayer, is still awaiting trial, as is Edward Veselka, accused of having been a party to the alleged conspiracy.

A new trial was asked for Mrs. Carl and she may know the result shortly after August 25, the date fixed for arguments.

She was the second woman to be convicted within less than a week on a similar charge. The other was Mrs. Bessie Opat, whose punishment was set at five years imprisonment for alleged conspiracy to slay her husband, Marion.

The alleged plot, however, failed.

Loyalty League To Hold An Important Meeting Thursday

A very important meeting of the Dixon Loyalty League, at which time the National Recovery Act and the President's program will be discussed, will be held at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening. This meeting will be of vital importance to every retailer in this city.

Rev. Fr. Thiry Goes To Aurora Parish

Rev. Fr. Thiry yesterday gave up his duties as assistant priest at St. Anne's Catholic church in this city and went to Aurora, where he will become assistant to Rt. Rev. Mr. Schumacher of St. Nicholas' parish. The best wishes of a large number of Dixon friends will go with him to his new field.

Following The Progress Made By Fliers Today

BULLETIN
New York, July 26—(AP)—Honored earlier in the day by the city of New York for his historic solo flight around the world, Wiley Post of Oklahoma City took off for Washington this afternoon to receive the congratulations of President Roosevelt.

BULLETIN
Prince Rupert, B. C., July 26—(AP)—James Matern, American round-the-world airman, arrived here today from Alaska, in a seaplane piloted by Bob Ellis.

With three members of the William Alexander relief expedition he proceeded by car to Terrace, where he was to board the Alexander plane and fly to New York.

(By The Associated Press.)

General Italo Balbo's Italian armada of the air moved on today from Shadac, N. B. to Shoal Harbor, N. F. One plane alighting en route for mechanical repairs. It still was to be decided whether the Air Minister would lead his 24 planes home across the Atlantic by the northern or the southern route.

Wiley Post, world flier, received a tumultuous acclaim in New York for his record solo flight around the world.

Dixon Authorities Summoned To Parley In Capital Friday

State's Attorney Edward A. Jones, Sheriff Fred Richardson and Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber this morning received telegrams from Gov. Henry Horner "urging" their attendance at 2 P. M. Friday, July 28, at the committee room in the Centennial Buildings at Springfield, where an important confidential conference on the subject vital to the welfare of the state and your community will be held.

Inquiry by The Associated Press at Springfield today failed to elicit any information concerning the purpose of the conference.

MOTHER OF TWO DIXONITES DIED IN POLO HOME

Mrs. Lucy Rife Passed Last Evening After Lingering Illness

(Special To The Telegraph)
Polo, Ill., July 26—Mrs. Lucy Rife died last night at 7 o'clock at her home on East Dixon street after a lingering illness. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence and at 2:30 from the Methodist church. Burial in Fairmount cemetery.

Mrs. Rife's maiden name was Diehl and she was the daughter of Elias and Susan Diehl. She was born on a farm near Forreston, September 4th, 1849. On January 4th, 1868, she was married to Geo. W. Rife, who died 38 years ago. On October 20th, 1904, she was married to George Rife, who died 12 years ago.

Mrs. Rife is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ida Stiff of Polo and Mrs. David Boyce of Dixon, and three sons, Elias and Alfred Pyfer of Polo and Charles Pyfer of Dixon. There are 12 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. A son Aaron and a daughter Emma Neff preceded her in death.

Mrs. Rife had been in ailing health for some time and for the past several weeks had been confined to her bed.

Seek Occupants Of Small Plane Which Crashed On Government's Ordnance Depot, Savanna, Sunday

Savanna, Ill., July 26—(AP)—Civil and military authorities are investigating the crash of a small biplane and the disappearance of its occupants.

The plane, badly wrecked, was found in a lonely section of the Savanna Ordnance depot ground about 11 miles northwest of Savanna.

FEDERAL, STATE FORCES JOIN IN FIGHT ON CRIME

But Despite Attack On Crime Violence Is Still Unabated

(By The Associated Press.)
On a dozen fronts the agencies of federal government fought crime today.

At Washington, at Albany, in the middle west and on the Pacific coast there were new evidences of determination to crush the kidnap breed.

President Roosevelt let it be plainly known that he wants established a super-relief force of federal agents to step in and check the growth of organized crime—especially kidnappings.

Governors of states, meeting in San Francisco, added their voices to demands for action. Governor Balzar of Nevada said:

"It is up to us individual Governors to cooperate, possibly with the federal government, to do something drastic to stop these organized gangs."

Cooperation Needed
Governor White of Ohio, speaking at the Governor's conference, advocated cooperation between the states and the federal government to check kidnapping and other crime of organized gangs.

Governor Lehman of New York, with a kidnapping (as yet unsolved) done almost in the shadow of the Capitol at Albany, indicated he would demand enactment of drastic laws against kidnappers.

In several parts of the country, there were definite signs today that public indignation against criminals was having results. Roger Touhy, and three men classified as members of his Chicago gang are held at Milwaukee on charges growing out of the William Hamm, Jr., kidnapping in St. Paul, Minn. A former convict is on trial in Kansas City for the kidnapping last May of Mary McElroy, daughter of the City Manager. At St. Louis authorities told of a confession that they hope will speed solution of the kidnapping of August Luer of Alton, Ill., July 11.

Elsewhere there was other evidence of public wrath against the recent successful forays of criminals. The Director of the Department of Public Safety in Indiana called for the organization of modified "Minute Men" in every community. These groups would spring into action at first word of any crime, and by the use of communication systems, operating through

Aged Colored Lady To State Hospital

Mrs. Mary Wilhelm, the aged colored woman who was picked up Sunday on the I. C. right of way, where she had been wandering for over a week, and who frankly admitted to Sheriff Fred Richardson that she "guessed she was lost" was taken into the county court yesterday afternoon and committed to the state hospital at East Moline.

The old "mammy" seemed delighted that she was to be sent some place where she could get relief from the "misery" in her feet.

No Evidence Unknown Youth Was Killed By I. C. Viaduct in Dixon

Body Of Unidentified Young Man Found On Load Of Crates

Chief of Police J. D. VanBibber and State Highway Policeman Rex Flach late evening conducted an investigation at the I. C. viaduct over the Lincoln Highway at the west city limits, to determine, if possible, whether a youth of 15 or 16, whose body was found on top of a truck of chicken crates at Rochelle late yesterday afternoon, met his death by striking the viaduct as the truck passed through Dixon during the day, en route from DeWitt, Ia., to Chicago.

Their investigation disclosed no marks on the steel structure indicating a human body had struck it, and measurements indicated to the local officers that anyone riding a-top the poultry truck passing under the viaduct here would have had to be in a standing position to be struck by it. It is their belief the accident happened at the Northwestern viaduct between Union Grove and Fulton, which is much lower than the I. C. structure in Dixon.

The presence of the grewsome and uncharacterized part of the cargo of chicken crates was unknown to the two drivers, Carl Reaberg and Gunnar Anderson of Chicago, when they pulled up to a restaurant in Rochelle late yesterday afternoon for lunch. Two Rochelle youths, F. M. Buestein and Donald Naster, sitting across the street from the lunch room, saw the body sprawled across the top of the crates and investigated. Satisfied that the body was dead they notified the police and the truck drivers, who were at a loss to know how the body got on the truck.

Removing the body and taking it to undertakings rooms in Rochelle, the authorities learned that the victim, apparently 15 or 16 years of age, had suffered a broken neck and fractured skull and had probably been killed instantly.

Nothing to establish the lad's identity was disclosed at the inquest conducted by Ogle County Coroner J. C. Aikens of Forreston, at Rochelle last evening. He was about 5 feet, ten inches tall; had brown eyes and closely cropped black hair; wore dark trousers, the seat of which was patched; size 8 shoes; and two pairs of socks. The only identifying marks on his body are a heart and the word "Casey" tattooed on his right forearm.

STATE SOLDIERS KILLED IN PANA BUS EXPLOSION

Guardsmen, Returning from Mines, Victims Mystery Blast

Pana, Ill., July 26—(AP)—Three National Guardsmen were reported to have been killed by a mysterious explosion which wrecked the motor bus carrying them from the Taylorville coal fields to their home at Mt. Vernon.

The soldiers reported to have been killed are Marlow Case, Clarence Beck and Burrell Holbert.

They were members of the Howitzer company of the 130 Infantry and had completed a tour of duty at Taylorville.

Four soldiers were brought to the Pana hospital in a serious condition from burns and injuries. Hospital attaches said two dozen men were brought there for treatment after the explosion the origin of which could not be immediately explained.

Reports were that the accident was caused by an explosion of tear gas.

KIDNAP PRISONER BUT HE'S FOUND DEAD IN THE CAR

Gunmen Killed a Deputy In Snatching Convict On Way To Prison

BULLETIN
Charleston, W. Va., July 26—(AP)—A belief that a vain effort to free Ralph Harper, 19, confessed robber, caused his death, the slaying of one deputy and injuries to another officer, was expressed today by R. Carl Andrews, County Sheriff.

Andrews said the four gunmen who fired into an automobile carrying Harper to the penitentiary last night to serve a 25-year sentence for armed robbery had planned a bold effort to effect his escape.

It was knowledge of the plans to free the youth that prompted officers to start for the penitentiary with him a few hours after he was sentenced, the Sheriff said.

Officers previously had expressed doubt as to whether Harper's death resulted from revenge for some under-world grudge or occurred accidentally in an attempt to free him.

Charleston, W. Va., July 26—(AP)—Gunmen who killed one deputy sheriff and wounded another and an hour later deposited the body of Ralph Harper in an alley at Huntington, W. Va., left police mystified as to why they snatched a convicted prisoner from a 25-year sentence.

A rain of pistol bullets poured into the automobile of Deputy Sheriffs Roy Shamblin and G. L. Dudley on the outskirts of Charleston, killing Shamblin and wounding Dudley.

With them was Harper, 19, who a few hours before had pleaded guilty to robbing a Charleston shoe store and was being taken to the state penitentiary at Moundsville.

Dudley said four men climbed from the pursuing automobile after shooting wildly and forced him to descend a steep bank while they placed Harper in their machine and sped toward Charleston.

Later, at Huntington, 35 miles distant, police saw two men leap from an automobile in an alley and investigated. They found Harper's body, later identified by a brother, crumpled on the floor of a sedan, a bullet through the chest, wrists still encased in handcuffs. The two men escaped.

Shot During Holdup

Police are uncertain whether Harper was shot before his abductors snatched him from the deputies' car en route to Huntington. Dr. F. X. Schurer, Huntington coroner, said the youth had been dead about 45 minutes, indicating he had died after being taken from the officers' automobile.

Charleston police said information on which Harper was arrested at Staunton, Va., was furnished by persons with whom he had quarreled there. He had fled to Staunton after escaping from jail in Charleston while awaiting trial.

Several persons were arrested in Charleston for questioning and Huntington police are attempting to trace the two men seen to leap from the automobile in which Harper was found less than a block from his father's home.

IT RAINED TODAY

THE rain was dripping all about. And yet my thought, dry-shod, ran out. Among the birches, slender-set. Along the pelted rivulet. It saw the blood-root blossom pale. The red-capped moss and snuggled snail. The mushroom thrusting through the mold. The early cowslip's budded gold. A while it tarried there to bless Those living creatures' loveliness. Then under dripping bush and tree. My thought, dry-shod, returned to me.

Celebrates 87th Birthday Today

Today at his home on Peoria avenue, with his daughters, Mrs. Charles Leake, and Mrs. Frank Philpott, Edwin W. Smith is quietly observing his 87th birthday. Mr. Smith who is highly esteemed by all who know him, is the recipient of lovely flowers, greetings and gifts from relatives and friends, with their affectionate regard. Mr. Smith is also receiving notice today in the happy birthday column of the Telegraph. His birthday is a quiet one, as the members of the family are busy keeping in touch with Russell Leake, father of Charles Leake, who is a patient at the hospital. Mr. Leake who sustained a fractured hip sometime ago, is improving as well as can be expected.

IN CASE OF RAIN PICNIC WILL BE POSTPONED

The Dixon Woman's Relief Corps will have their annual picnic on Thursday, July 27th, at 223 Lincoln Way, at the C. H. Stackpole residence. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock sharp. The observance of the fiftieth anniversary of the National W. R. C. will be held that evening and Mrs. Chas. Eastman will read the history. Comrades and their families are cordially invited and Corps members and their families are urged to attend. The Corps will furnish ice cream and coffee. General picnic rules to be observed.

"Springtime in Rockies" Well Produced

The play "Springtime in the Rockies", written by a local man and presented by talent from this vicinity, at the Assembly Park Auditorium last evening drew an enthusiastic audience, which was rewarded by a very good performance, interspersed with clever musical numbers. The cast was as published in The Telegraph a few days ago, and the participants and author all deserve credit for the benefit, the net proceeds of which will go to welfare work in the community.

ENTERTAINED AT DINNER LAST EVENING

Miss Anna Gelsenheimer, entertained at dinner last evening Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rising of Los Angeles, Cal. Mrs. Rising is a former Dixon girl, sister of County Clerk P. G. Dimick, who has many admiring friends in Dixon.

TRUE BLUE CLASS PICNIC SUPPER THURSDAY EVENING

The True Blue Class of the Christian church will hold a picnic supper Thursday evening at 6 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ward Hall, 521 E. McKinney Street. Will those who have cars phone members who have no car?

Beautiful Wedding Is Solemnized at Home

On Saturday afternoon, July 22, at 3 o'clock, one of the most beautiful home weddings of this season was solemnized when Miss Alice Kerchner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kerchner of West Third street, became the bride of Raymond Ommen, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Ommen.

In the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends Rev. Lloyd W. Walter, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church officiated at the impressive marriage service. An abundance of beautiful and fragrant flowers graced the rooms at the home. The young people entered the living room and took their places under a beautifully decorated arch at 3 o'clock with a background of flowers and ferns.

The bride and bridegroom were attended by the groom's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ommen. The lovely bride wore pink with white accessories and carried an arm bouquet of gladioli and baby breath. Mrs. Ommen, as matron of honor, wore white with white accessories.

Following the congratulations, a tempting three-course dinner was served by the caterers, Mrs. Robert Cline, assisted by Miss Edna Roemmick. The guests were seated at a long table in the dining room beautifully decorated in pink and white. Overhead were festoons in delicate pink and white. The nut cups and place cards represented a rose on a green leaf. The brides cake formed the centerpiece.

Among the guests present was Mrs. Chris Schanberger of Amoy, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Mary Long of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Ommen left on a wedding trip to Chicago to visit relatives and attend the Century of Progress. Mrs. Ommen's traveling costume was in blue and white. On their return the young couple will make their home in Dixon. All join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Ommen success and happiness.

True Blue Class Elected Officers

The True Blue class of the Sugar Grove Sunday school held their regular monthly meeting in the basement of the church Friday evening, there being eighteen present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Oscar Buhler, who read the scripture lesson, after which all repeated the Lord's Prayer. After a short business meeting election of officers was held, the following officers being elected:

President—Edward Lawton
Vice Pres.—Keith Swarts
Secretary—Oscar Buhler
Treasurer—Mrs. Blinn Bryan
Devotional leader—Mrs. Glen Swarts

Roll call was then taken and after a social period, tasty refreshments of lemonade and sandwiches were served by the committee, Mrs. LeRoy Buhler and Mrs. Blinn Bryan.

WERE DINNER GUESTS AT SWARTS HOME

Mrs. Jessie Cairnes Shoebottom of Los Angeles, Cal., and Mrs. Fred Shoebottom and Mrs. Frank Shoebottom of Chicago were dinner guests of Misses Carrie and Bertha Swarts Wednesday and called on friends and relatives, going on to Polo to visit old friends. They enjoyed the drive from Chicago to Dixon very much.

ARE GUESTS AT HOME OF MRS. BURNHAM AND DAUGHTER

Mrs. Walter Page and daughter, Miss Eleanor Page of Scarsdale, N. Y., and Mrs. Oscar A. Olson, and sons Bobby and Walter, of Kansas City, Mo., are guests at the home of Mrs. S. C. Burnham and daughter Miss Edna Burnham.

SPICED WATERMELON
Dinner Serving Three
Broiled Meat Cakes
Brown Sweet Potatoes
Corn on the Cob
Bread Butter
Spiced Watermelon Rind
Cherry Pudding Lemon Sauce
Coffee

Broiled Meat Cakes
1 pound round of beef
2 tablespoons chopped onions
2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped green peppers

1-4 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 egg yolk

Mix the meat, which has been chopped, with the rest of the ingredients. Shape into 3 cakes. Place on baking pan, broil 12 minutes.

Spiced Watermelon Rind
2 pounds watermelon rind
4 cups cold water
4 tablespoons salt

Remove green and pink portions from rind. Cut into pieces about one by two inches. Add water and salt, soak over night. Drain and cover by 4 inches with cold water. Boil slowly 20 minutes, then drain.

Spice Mixture
4 cups sugar
2 cups vinegar
2 cups water
1-4 cup stick cinnamon
2 teaspoons white cloves
Loosely tie spices in white cloth. Add to rest of ingredients, boil 3 minutes. Add rind and boil gently until rind is well glazed.

Cherry Pudding
1 1-2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1-8 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons fat
1-2 cup milk
2 cups seeded cherries
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1-4 teaspoon cloves
2-3 cup sugar
2 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons butter

Mix flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in fat with knife. Mixing with knife, add milk. When soft dough forms, pat out and fit over rest of ingredients, which have been blended and poured into buttered shallow pan. Make 3 holes in top. Bake 25 minutes in moderate oven.

Sponge Cakes For Summer Dessert

During the summer months, probably the most popular and satisfactory cake to serve with fruit and ice cream is some variety of sponge cake. Children, too, may enjoy this variety of cake since it contains no butter to make it too rich and indigestible for small persons.

All types of sponge cake are made without shortening, which distinguishes them from the so-called "butter" cakes that are rich and suitable for cold weather.

Since eggs are of paramount importance in the making of sponge cakes, they should be carefully chosen. First they must, of course, be in good condition. They must be at least 48 hours old and a three-day egg will beat even better. They must be very cold and not a particle of the yolk must be allowed to escape into the white.

Beat the Whites Stiff
Beat the whites with a wire whisk, because this whips more air into them. It is this air which lightens the cake by expanding with heat. Beat the whites until they are stiff but not until they are dry. When a point of beaten white will hold its shape they are beaten enough.

The egg yolks should be beaten with a Dover beater until they are thick and lemon colored.

Fine granulated sugar does much to produce a fine grained cake. It should be sifted several times. Pastry flour sifted once before measuring should be used and it should be sifted several times after measuring. If general purpose flour is used, use two tablespoons less to each cup and sift many times after measuring.

There are several ways to vary the flavoring of sponge cakes. Chocolate, coffee, orange, lemon and caramel make distinctive cakes while almond, vanilla and lemon extracts are used to flavor a

A Cinema Favorite Done Up Brown

Organdie is an ideal fabric for summer evening dresses and plaids are very chic! You can't go wrong if you wear either one, or both. Sally Ellers combines these two fashion highlights and wears a brown organdie dance frock, plaided in yellow and white with a fine stripe of scarlet. The sleeves are a series of ruffles and the skirt falls from a tight yoke into the fullness which also spells smartness this season. Sally wears brown satin sandals with this costume.

sponge cake delicately.

Orange Sponge Cake
Six eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup flour, 5 tablespoons water, 1-2 cup orange juice, grated rind 1 orange, few grains salt, 1-2 teaspoon cream of tartar.

Separate whites from yolks of eggs and beat whites with cream of tartar sifted over them until stiff. Cook sugar and water until it "threads" and pour into beaten whites, beaten constantly. Beat until cool. Beat in orange juice and grated orange rind. Add beaten egg yolks and fold in flour sifted with salt. Bake in an unbuttered pan at 330 degrees F. for 50 minutes. Invert pan on cooling rack to cool. It should come from the pan by its own weight, but if it does not it may be loosened around the edges with a spatula when cool.

Raymond Null's Birthday Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Frerichs of near Nelson entertained at their lovely country home Sunday in honor of Raymond Null whose birthday occurs this week.

At noon a sumptuous picnic dinner was served and later in the day ice cream and cake.

The afternoon was spent in a social way with games and music. Those in attendance included: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Landis and two daughters, Guy Coats, Mr. and Mrs. Francis McKee and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Eberole and daughter, June Null, Mr. and Mrs. Miller and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stern and family, Harold Null, Jacob Beck, Edward Jansen and the guest of honor, Raymond Null.

Better to Praise Than to Blame

Janie worked with her tongue out. The scholars snipped over the lines her mother had drawn on the pink muslin, although here and there they described an arc where no arc was intended and but out a V where a straight line should have been.

She did her very best and it was a good best.

After a lot of effort the doll dress was cut out. And then her mother showed her how to sew the seams together. The stitches were an inch long and crooked of course. But one could tell by her tongue and fingers that every nerve of her little mind and body was concentrating on production.

Earnest Application
In an hour the dress was finished to all intents and purposes. It looked something like a hallo-wen mask crossed with a salt sack, but it was a dress. It was more than that. It was the best dress Janie could make. No Parisian couturier could turn out a creation with more earnestness, application and ingenuity.

She cut off the thread without fastening it and of course some stitches pulled out. That wasn't her fault. No one had ever showed her about fastening the thread.

Something was wrong. She was very tired too. She looked at the dress, then over at the blue taffeta one on Greta's bisque body.

Silently she rolled the pink one into a ball and stuck it under a sofa pillow. Then she went outside.

At lunch her mother said, "Where's the little dress, Janie?" "I threw it away. It wasn't any good."

"I'm sure it was. Let me see it."

"Why Janie! Please do. I don't expect it to be perfect. I have a 'Bob' will make fun of it."

Rewarding Hard Work
Her mother sent Bob a message with her eyes. "Very well. If he does I'll go and get the can of paint he thinned with water to paint the steps with and show it to somebody."

Bob squirmed.

Janie thought a minute, and then got the dress, spread it out on the tablecloth and stood silent. She was in an agony of humiliation and abasement. It's terrible. I can't sew. It's all crooked and it's coming to pieces.

Her mother took the small chin in her hands. "Look here, my dear. Do you know what I see? It isn't just a dress, but a beautiful piece of hard work done by a little girl who stuck to something and finished it. No one can do a thing right just at first. Not even the tenth time."

"Come out here, you two." She went to the kitchen. "I have made this same cake dozens of times. Today I forgot something and it fell.

Birthday Bridge Party Is Enjoyed

Yesterday was the birthday of the genial druggist, George A. Campbell, and last evening after dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. George Fries, their daughter and husband, entertained most enjoyably a company of friends and neighbors at bridge.

Fragrant garden flowers were the appropriate decorations.

A. A. Rowland was awarded the favor for high honors at bridge; Mrs. Charles Howard won the high favor for the ladies. Mrs. C. Judd won the consolation favor for the ladies and Charles Howard won the consolation favor for the gentlemen. Delicious refreshments were served, completing a delightful evening for all. As the guests departed for their homes all wished Mr. Campbell many future happy birthdays.

Reunion of College Friends on Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. George Fries of Dixon, delightfully entertained at their home Sunday a group of friends at dinner. Those present included Miss Florence Adelman of Oakland, Cal.; Mrs. Edward Clark of Rockford; Mrs. Donald Martin of Seward; and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Turner of Madison, Wis. Mesdames Fries, Clark, Martin, Turner and Miss Adelman are former college chums who all attended the State Teachers College at DeKalb. Sunday proved an exceptionally happy day for all present, reminiscences of school days being one of the features.

WAR SPIRIT CAN WIN FOR BLANKET CODE.

Announcement from Washington of the blanket code for all American industry is in some ways the most encouraging thing that has happened in this country in a great many years.

That is not so much because it offers a new chance to wipe out the depression as because it will enable us to unite emotionally in a way that is seldom possible except in war-time.

The drive to get co-operation in this code is to be conducted just as the Liberty loan and draft act drives were conducted during the war. And in that fact there is something extremely heart-warming.

A great many people have remarked on the singular fact that a nation usually is able to focus its effort and its emotions on one point only in time of great danger. Destructive and frightful as war is, it usually is the only thing that can make a people feel truly united, the only thing that can make them forget their differences, bury self-interest and work together in a common cause.

It has often been said that if only a people could get together on a peace-time project with the spirit that is displayed in time of war, it could surmount almost any obstacle.

That is the chance that is open to us now. We are being asked to submerge selfish interests for the common good; to be Americans first and self-seeking individuals later; to stand united for the sake of those fellow-citizens who have not yet had a fair break.

This brings us a great challenge and a great opportunity.

It is a challenge because it will test our intelligence, our patriotism and our endurance just as deeply and just as truly as any war-time emergency ever did.

And it is an opportunity because it opens the way to a new day in American history.

Upon the events of the next six months, probably, will depend the fate of our fight to escape from the depression.

We can shape our future to suit ourselves; and if we are as wise and brave as we like to believe, we can pave the way for a better, freer life for everyone in America.

MAKING THE LAW RIDICULOUS.

Probably no government ever existed which did not occasionally make the mistake of getting a prime ass on its payroll. It isn't often, however, that one finds bureaucratic asininity carried quite to the heights attained by that deputy federal game warden in Indiana who arrested one Foster Lewis for befriending a bird with a broken wing.

The bird in question was a redbird. Lewis found it in his back yard, crippled, and nursed it back to health. He took such good care of it that it refused to fly away, when it got well—being a smart bird, apparently, and knowing a good thing when it saw it.

But the redbird, as a migratory bird, is protected by federal law, and it is illegal to possess one. So a deputy federal game warden has arrested Lewis for violating a federal statute!

Somewhere in Uncle Sam's service there must be someone with brains enough to release Lewis with immediate apologies—and to release the game warden.

GEN. JOHNSON LOOKS AHEAD.

This Gen. Hugh Johnson seems to have a gift for forceful and expressive speech—and, along with it, a clear recognition of the exact nature of the problems that lie ahead of him.

In picking men to help him administer the recovery act, General Johnson is looking ahead to trouble.

"I know sooner or later the applause will die down and the air will be full of dead cats," he says. "I am picking men who won't run when that time comes."

It could hardly be expressed more aptly. Everybody is cheering now; but in a few months some of the people on whom the restrictions of the recovery program rest most heavily will begin fighting back—and then, as General Johnson says, it will be important to have in Washington some men who don't mind being targets for the dead cats.

Life is somewhat like a game of bridge; those of you who play the game out will realize at the end how much has depended on your discards.—Rt. Rev. Latimer Burleson, Protestant Episcopal church.

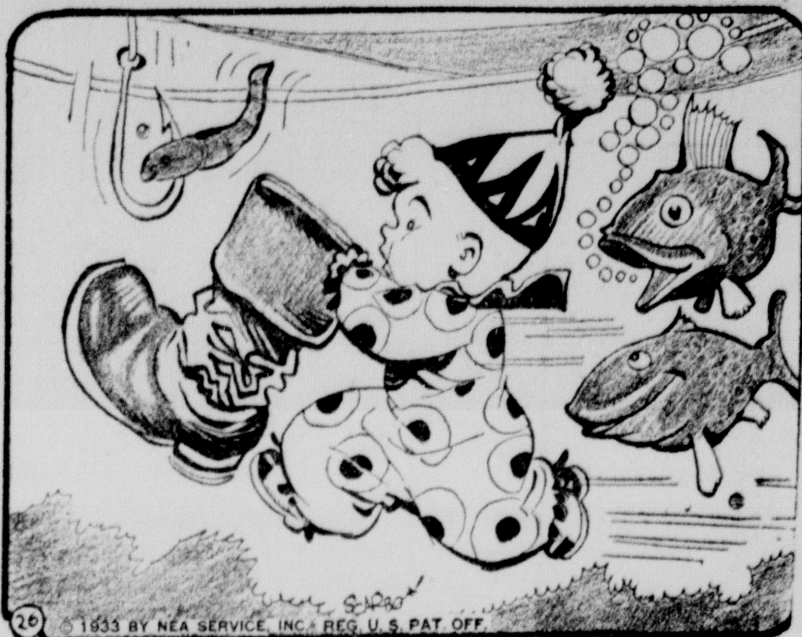

Nobody ever got anywhere by waiting. Doing something—even if you do it wrong—is better than doing nothing at all.—Patrick H. Joyce, president Chicago & Great Western Railroad.

The whole secret of life is to be interested in one thing profoundly and in a thousand things well.—Hugh Walpole, novelist.

Friendship, the most precious thing between individuals, is also the most precious thing between nations.—Ramsay MacDonald.

An annual income of $100,000 is a sure symptom of social disease.—Rev. C. W. Tinsley, Cresson, Pa.

THE TINY TITLES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Wee Coppy cried, "I have a plan. We'll fool somebody if we can. The fisherman who dropped that hook thinks he will have some fun."

"I'll bet he'll almost have a fit, if we just jerk the hook a bit." "All right," another Tiny said, "I'll show you how it's done."

Then at the hook the whole bunch looked and Dotty said, "Now, don't get hooked. I think it will be safer if we grab the fishing line."

"Let Scouty do it first. He's good! He'll jerk a bit, just as he should. The trick will not be funny lads, unless it works out fine."

The first jerk made the Tines roar, and Dotty yelled, "Pull it some more!" The fisherman, who jerked the line. He thought he had a bite.

"I'll bet he's thrilled as he can be. Why, say, as long as he can't see what we are doing, he will likely sit up there all night."

"Hey, let me join in on the fun."

"I'll grab hold of the line and run," said Windy. "Then the man will think he's caught a four-pound trout."

"I'll hang on for a while and then let go, and grab the line again. Gee, wouldn't it be tragic if the man should pull me out?"

"Don't take a chance," cried Duncy. "I know another stunt to try. Perhaps we can find something we can fasten to the hook."

"That's fine," said Goldy, with a grin. "The fisherman will pull it in and then he'll get a big surprise. Come, everybody, look!"

Soon Coppy said, "I sadly fear that we'll find nothing 'way down here. I guess that Windy's plan is best. Just grab the line and scoot."

Then Duncy ran right up and said, "Hey, wait! We will use this instead. I found it by a rock. It is a great big rubber boot."

(The trick works out fine in the next story).

his trouble was not in his stars but in himself, and he began where the trouble was.

All about us today people have to make new starts. Savings have been swept away; fortunes have evaporated. Entire industries have melted as if into thin air. Many must begin again and build anew from the ground up. It is not easy to do, especially if one is well along in life and has been doing one sort of work all his days. One sees many heart-breaking tragedies in the radical, often cruel, adjustments now going on.

None the less, it can be done, and not a few are finding new zest and joy in making new starts. It asks for grit, grace and gumption, for faith and flexibility of mind, and above all for courage. It may mean the discovery of new powers in us of which we were unaware, the development of new capacities.

Anyway, it is an adventure, and that is better than running in a rut, victims of dismal routine and dingy, deadening grind.

MAKING NEW STARTS

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

A lovely English story tells of a strange thing that happened in a slow, sleepy old town named Toad-in-the-Hole. The name may seem fantastic, but not more so than the names of other towns in England. The man in the story was the parish preacher in the town, or rather the curate. He decided that the town needed a new curate—he had been there nine years, and he did not seem to be getting anywhere at all.

At the same time he decided that the new curate should be himself, and that he should take office next day at noon. He did so with amazing, even blessed, results for the town. He started in by leaving undone a thing that had been done for half a century. Always the church bell rang at noon, but he failed to ring it, and the whole town turned out to learn why. Everything was upset, that is to say, set up anew by a new curate.

One thinks of that fine saying by Henry Ford, "Start where you stand"; for that is what the curate really did. Of course, we cannot start from anywhere else, though we often seem to think we could start if we could get off somewhere else. No; right where we are is the place to start, if we are ever to get anywhere. The curate learned that.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — When President Roosevelt reached into the senate and named that veteran of politics, Claude Augustus Swanson of Virginia, as his secretary of the navy, the announcement accompanying his selection was:

"I like the cut of his jibs."

Washington political observers, however, professed to have another explanation for Swanson's induction into the Roosevelt cabinet. They hinted that Harry Flood Byrd, admittedly a power in Virginia politics, was anxious to get to the senate.

Virginia's other senator, Carter Glass, had rejected the offer to become secretary of the treasury. An offer as made to Swanson. He accepted and Byrd took his place in the senate.

Whatever went on backstage, the fact remains that at the age of 71, and with 40 years of public life behind him, Swanson is running Uncle Sam's navy and drawing much commendation for his work.

LETS OTHERS PILOT

The courtly, dignified Virginian, unlike his predecessor, Secretary Adams, is not a "sea-going man." He likes to sail and be on the water, but he wants someone else to do the piloting.

But in every other respect he is "sea-going." He knows the needs of the navy and what is perhaps more satisfying to the admirals and others in the navy high command—he has a pride in the fleet.

For years he was a member and for a time chairman of the senate committee on naval affairs. There he received his knowledge of ships and the sea.

It was while he was serving as chairman of the naval affairs committee that he came in intimate contact with President Roosevelt, who was then assistant secretary of the navy. That association doubtless had a large part in determining Roosevelt's selecting him for the navy portfolio.

They say down at the navy that Secretary Swanson's methods of administering the affairs of his department are different from those of his predecessors and are peculiarly his own.

DETAILS TO OTHERS

He is content to define broad policies. He leaves the job of working out the details to Henry L. Roosevelt, the assistant secretary, and the admirals.

He sees a lot of people every day. Also much of his work is done on the outside.

He has been in congress too long to be content to remain at his desk at the navy department. When con-

This trait should stand him in good stead when congress gets around to providing for the future

THE LIVER—I

The liver is the largest organ in the human body. Its physiology is very complicated. Many of its functions still remain poorly defined.

The liver is a filtering organ, a storage place, an organ of digestion, a salvaging system, a chemical laboratory in which toxins (poisons or poisonous substances) are rendered innocuous, and an organ of elimination.

The liver arrests, stores, modifies and transforms all substances brought to it by the blood. These substances in a modified form are either at once or later transferred to the blood and through the blood to the tissues of the body, or are carried through the blood to the kidneys, or are carried back again

Traveling Around America

WHERE else but in Costa Rica could one see a sight like this? An up-to-date coil-spring mattress joggling along in an ancient disk-wheeled oxcart—on a modern paved street lined with old Spanish buildings! And this is just one of the examples of the delightful mingling of old and new—of ancient Mayan, medieval Spanish and up-to-date American—to be found in the Central Americas on the West Coast of our own continent.

Costa Rica is a particularly paradoxical place where riotous jungles ramble in primitive unrestraint almost to the edge of carefully groomed little cities; where oxcarts with gayly painted mahogany disk wheels and placid-eyed, carefully matched steers speed along the streets beside modern motor cars; where old-time sugar mills called trapiches, dairies known as lecherias, and busy beneficium into the intestines by way of the bile passages.

The liver has, generally speaking, two channels of blood circulation, one an arterial system which brings to the cells of the liver oxygen and nutrient. The other circulation is venous in character, the blood being brought to the liver through the portal vein from the intestinal tract.

The blood that comes by way of the portal vein contains two kinds of substances, namely, the useful products of digestion, and a variety of useless or even poisonous products of intestinal digestion—bacteria, poisons, drugs, organic and inorganic substances which have been absorbed from the intestines.

As an organ of digestion, the liver contributes bile. This is a secretion which is chemically complicated. It contains bile pigments, bile acids and their salts, and an important substance known as cholesterol.

The bile secreted by the liver facilitates the absorption of fats from the intestines. This physiologic process, which is also complicated, consists essentially in a conversion of fats into soaps. In the form of soaps, fats may be more readily absorbed into the body and subsequently utilized.

The liver also plays an important part in sugar and carbohydrate metabolism.

A BOOK A DAY

IT'S GOOD EVEN IF YOU STAY AT HOME

By Bruce Catton

You can get almost as much fun out of an imaginary voyage in your arm chair as you can out of the real article, if you have the right sort of guide-book, and a sample of what all guide-books ought to be is to be found in Hendrik Willem van Loon's "An Indiscreet Itinerary," which tells you all about Holland.

Here is an ingratiating little book which you will enjoy even if you never have been in Holland and never intend to go there.

In the process of telling you what to see in Holland, Mr. Van Loon somehow contrives to outline the history of the land, to sketch the characteristics of its people, to tell you about its economics and its politics and to give you a hint or two of a satisfying and intelligent philosophy of life—and all in a book of 117 pages!

One warning he gives which visitors to any strange land might profitably heed: Take it easy.

"The first thing to do once you arrive in any place is to sit down and catch your breath, and take a nap if you feel so inclined," he remarks. And later: "When I travel I am all for taking it easy and doing a lot of sitting down."

Mr. Van Loon's writing has a flavor all its own, and by now you probably know whether or not you like it. If you're like me, you do; and if you do, you'll find "An Indiscreet Itinerary" highly entertaining, even if you have not the slightest intention of going to Holland or any other foreign land.

PIRATES MAKING LIFE MISERABLE FOR THE LEADERS

Followed Victory Over Giants By Slapping The Cubs Down

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)
The Pittsburgh Pirates may not win the National League flag but they apparently are going to have a lot to say about who will. They seem to be taking a fiendish delight in pounding the higher-placed New York Giants and Chicago Cubs just when it will do the most damage.

Last week the Bucs handed the league-leading Giants a set-back by splitting a six-game series. Yesterday, to show they were playing no favorites, they walloped the Cubs in both ends of a double-header, 4-3 and 4-1, leaving the Giants three games out in front and Pittsburgh only one game and a half out of second place.

The work of three players, Steve Swetonic, Hal Smith and Freddy Lindstrom stood out in yesterday's triumph. The first two pitched effectively, Smith giving five hits and an unearned run in the second game. Lindstrom, continuing his hitting streak through 22 games, made five hits, scored two runs, and batted in three.

The only other National League game saw the St. Louis Cardinals, playing their first game under the management of Frankie Frisch, climb into a fourth-place tie with the Boston Braves by defeating the Cincinnati Reds 3-1. Jess Haines pitched six-hit ball in a mound duel with Larry Benton.

In American League
One inning was enough to enable the Washington Senators to beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-1, and increase their American league lead over the New York Yankees to a full game. Five walks off Roy Mahaffey led to four Senator runs in the opening frame and they were plenty as rain stopped the contest after five innings. The Yanks and Boston were rained out altogether.

The Cleveland Indians, "hitlers" wonders of the circuit, advanced a notch in the second division ratings as Mel Harder outpinned Sam Jones 2 to 1 in a ten inning duel to give the Chicago White Sox their sixth straight defeat. The Indians got only seven blows, including singles by Willie Kamm and Frank Pytlak in the tenth but Harder limited the Sox to six.

The Detroit Tigers scored early and often against the St. Louis Browns, putting over four runs in the first inning and three more in the third to win 9 to 3 as every player except Ray Hayworth figured in the 15 hit attack.

Hooks and Slides

BY BILL BRAUCHER
CRAZY OVER HORSES—

Had the gentleman who wrote that once popular song, "Crazy Over Horses," waited until 1933 he would have been far too dizzy to write anything. Maybe when he wrote that song he was thinking of a Crusader, but today, the antics of Head Play, Mr. Khayyam, War Glory, Plucky Play and others too numerous to mention would send him hustling to some nice quiet place like the village nut house.

Horses during this year of upsets and form reversals have certainly dealt the form players plenty of body blows. The three-year-olds have been the worst offenders, but plenty of the older horses—and younger ones too—have been indulging in anti-form pranks.

In and Out
Take a list of the country's great three-year-old stakes as a beginner. Cutting out some of the smaller ones you have left: The Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Belmont Stakes, Dwyer, Withers, American Derby, Latonia Derby and Arlington Classic.

Not one of the country's so-called top horses was able to win two of these races. Brokers' Tip won the Derby, Head Play the Preakness (Brokers' Tip last), Mr. Khayyam made a monkey out of Head Play in the American Derby and then ran last in an allowance race, War Glory ran away from his field in the Dwyer and then lost his next two starts. The Belmont was won by an erstwhile claiming horse named Hurryoff. The Darb won the Withers and Indander the Classic.

YOU FIGURE IT OUT—
Now here's what makes the form player feel as though he'd been in the corner of either Mr. Schmeling or Mr. Sharkey. If Head Play could win the Preakness with the greatest exhibition since Man o'War, how is it he is now unable to beat but one horse in a 12-horse field?

And if War Glory could run away from his field in the mile and a half Dwyer Stakes, setting all the pace and turning on more power in the stretch, how is it he got tired after the first mile in his next race?

Well, and for that matter, what made Mr. Khayyam suddenly decline the issue in two races and run last in another, after setting a track record in the Chesapeake Stakes, and giving Head Play two sound beatings?

AGE NO HELP—
And there are the older horses. Plucky Play still is breaking the hearts of the form players. Maybe you remember that during the last two years he limited his victories to races in which he whipped Gallant Knight, Sun Beau, Equipose and Fairness? Well this year in his first start he beat a good field, carrying top weight of 124 pounds, and being a long shot, too.

But in his next out, dropping nearly 20 pounds, and facing poorer competition, he was next to last—"still running," as they say. "And if you're not too punch drunk by this time, tell this poor mentality 'how come this Indian Runner?' A bang-up two-year-old. As a three-year-old a common plater. As a four-year-old, next to Equipose, the outstanding horse of the year.

Put a little HEALO FOOT POWDER in your shoes if you have aching tired feet. Ask any druggist for it. If

DOUBLE WINDUP THURSDAY EVE AT THE MAPLES

Boxing Fans Assured Of Exceptionally Fine Program

One of the greatest double windups of the year is on tap for boxing fans this Thursday evening, at the Dixon Athletic Club's weekly bill at the Maples arena, east of the city on the Lincoln Highway. Joe Romano of Rockford is in great form as he demonstrated before a few of Dixon sportsmen in a three-round workout at his gym yesterday, and he says he expects to give "Grandpa" Laurette of Marseilles the fight of his life, and in fact to beat him. These boys have never met.

In the other windup the "Toy Bull Dog" Dominick Young of Rockford meets Joe Chivato of Marseilles. These boys are both sluggers and will push plenty of leather. They have never met and it should be a hard-fought, even battle. The fans remember Young as the boy who fought Johnnie Baltzer, a great battle in Dixon last May.

The fans will also get their first look at "Cyclone" Davenport, who meets John Doty for the championship of the Dixon state hospital. Clint Enaley of Mt. Morris is now in tip-top shape for his bout with

HORNSBY SEEMS SLATED TO HEAD ST. LOUIS BROWN

Both St. Louis Papers Say Way Is Cleared For Negotiations

BULLETIN
St. Louis, July 26—(AP)—Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns, today announced signing of Rogers Hornsby as manager for the remainder of this season, 1934, and for 1935. Hornsby succeeds Bill Killefer who resigned recently.

Ball made his announcement as soon as President John Heyser of the National League had informed the St. Louis Cardinals, with whom Hornsby has been playing this season, that all clubs in the league had waived on Hornsby's services. As the Browns are in last place they had first claim to Hornsby under baseball law.

While no details of the contract were made public, it was understood that Hornsby will be given more authority than any other manager Ball has had. Ball will retain the owner's right to do what he wants with his property, but Hornsby will have entire charge in the contemplated rebuilding of the Browns and will be responsible to no one except Ball.

Hornsby, who wore a Cardinal uniform yesterday, coaching on the first base line on Frank Frisch's first day as manager of the Redbirds, will take charge of the Browns within a day or two. The Browns are in Detroit today and it is probable Hornsby will leave tomorrow night for Chicago to take over the reins in the first game of a series with the White Sox.

In assuming management of the Browns, Hornsby, a stormy petrel of baseball, is taking his fourth managerial job and his first position in the American League. Previously he directed the Cards, Braves and Cubs.

St. Louis, July 26—(AP)—After eighteen years of scintillating in the National League, Rogers Hornsby, ex-pilot of the Cardinals, Braves and Cubs, was expected at any moment today to become manager of the St. Louis American League club.

Both the Post-Dispatch and the Globe-Democrat said that signing of the contract was the only thing to be completed.

The Cardinals, whom the Rajah led to a world's championship in 1926 and then played with New York, Boston and Chicago before returning here this spring, had asked waivers on Hornsby so he could be free to sign with the Browns, and the waiver period expired last midnight.

While it is understood that President William Harridge of the American League has advised Phil DeC Ball, president of the Browns, against signing up Hornsby, the latter has remarked:

"If I were after Hornsby what right would anyone have trying to block me?"

Because Hornsby was still connected with the Cardinals, professional etiquette prevented both Cardinal and Brown officials from discussing the change freely.

Peculiar Cycle
Should the Rajah sign the contract, he will succeed Allen Sothoron, who has been leading the Browns since Bill Killefer resigned "under fire" a week ago.

It will be a peculiar cycle should Hornsby sign. When he managed the Cardinals in 1926, he had Killefer as a coach and Sothoron as a pitcher. Now with the latter holding the reins released by Killefer, it appears as if he is holding them for the Rajah.

Hornsby first came to the Cardinals in 1915, and for six consecutive years, 1920 to 1925, he led the National League in batting. In 1924 he established a new modern major league batting mark with .425. Two years before, his 42 home runs created a new league record at the time. In 1925 he was given the league's most valuable player award.

Petrolle And Bep Can't Meet Aug. 29
New York, July 26—(AP)—The return bout between Billy Petrolle and Bep Van Klavren, scheduled for the Yankee Stadium Aug. 29, has been ordered cancelled by the New York State Athletic Commission.

The commission's action was taken on the advice of three physicians who declared a cut over Van Klavren's left eye probably would not heal in time for the battle. It was that same cut that ended the first match, Petrolle winning on a technical knockout after four rounds.

Tim Mara, promoter of the match, said he would seek to hold it late in September.

LOUGHRAN AND RISK TO MEET IN MILLS RING

Their Scrap Features Boxing Card For Current Week

Chicago, July 26—(AP)—Tommy Loughran, the Philadelphia boxing master, and Johnny Risko, the veteran upset artist from Cleveland, will meet tonight in a ten round bout at Mills Stadium to decide the heavyweight "come-back" championship.

Each has had all the appearance of being washed up—not once, but several times. Both, however, have managed to make surprisingly successful comeback campaigns, and each is in the midst of one now.

During Loughran's most recent drive he has conquered Walter Cobb, Izzy Gastanaga and Steve Hamas, treating each to convincing boxing lessons. At 31 years of age, he is still about the best boxer around and will enter the ring favored to out-manuever the big Cleveland veteran for the decision. Risko, also 31, according to the record book, has bounced through King Levinsky, the never-say-die right hand swinger from Chicago's west side; Tuffy Griffiths and Mickey Walker, former welterweight and middleweight title holder, and a briefly successful candidate for heavyweight honors. Risko will weigh about 260 pounds, an advantage of around 15 pounds over Loughran, who expects to offset the weight pull by his superior boxing talent.

Lindstrom Regains His Eye With Vim

Pittsburgh, July 26—(AP)—Riding the crest of a 22-game hitting streak, Freddy "Powerhouse" Lindstrom, Pirate center fielder, rests in the charmed 300 batting circle for the first time this season.

Three hits in the average game of a doubleheader with the Cubs raised his average to .304 and passed the season record of 21 games of successive hitting held by Chick Fullis of the Phillies.

From June 15 to June 23 Lindstrom was fidgeting on the bench because of a 239 average and since July 4, has maintained a sparkling average of .422. In 192 times at bat he has scored 20 runs and made 43 hits including 12 doubles, two triples and a homer.

JOHN DOEG HAS NO ILLUSIONS AS TO "COME BACK"

Former World Star of Courts Now Plays For Fun Of It

Seabright, N. J., July 25—(AP)—John Hope Doeg, who bounded into the first ten of United States tennis stars in 1927, and to the No. 1 position three years later only to go unnoticed in the 1932 rankings, has no illusions about his chances of a come-back and will not try one.

The 27-year-old left-hander, now in the newspaper advertising business, is content to play "for the fun of it" and that's what he's doing in the historic Seabright invitation tournament that entered its third day today. After Seabright invitation, he'll play in no more major tournaments this year.

Out of Condition Doeg admittedly is out of condition and has played very little tennis this year or, as a matter of fact, since 1931 when he was ranked fifth nationally. He has turned to golf, plays a good game and finds it easier on the constitution than fiery tennis wars.

Yesterday, in defeating Karl Kramath, Texas collegian, Doeg broke the march of seeded stars to the round of eight and at times looked good in doing it. He was erratic, naturally, but his backhand was strong and his volleying as good as could be expected.

Doeg was to face Gregory Mangin, national indoor champion, in the quarter-finals today and seemed fated for elimination.

Sidney Wood, defending titleholder, was slated to meet little Bryan Grant of Atlanta and needed to flash better tennis than he has shown so far to survive. Frank Shields was favored over Sam Gilpin of Philadelphia, and 17-year-old Frankie Parker, national clay court champion, faced his first major test against the smooth-stroking Manuel Alonso, Spanish veteran.

BARGAIN BRIDIE

By KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY
ELINOR STAFFORD falls in love with BARRETT COLVIN. She is 20 and he is 35. LIDA STAFFORD, Elinor's jealous, scheming mother, breaks up the romance by convincing Barrett that Elinor is a heartless flirt.

When Elinor's aunt, wealthy MISS ELLA SEXTON, dies she leaves her fortune to Barrett. Then drunken VANCE CARTER shoots BENTWELL STAFFORD, Elinor's father. Barrett tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live as a guest in his house for a year he will give her the entire Sexton fortune to divide among her relatives, the stafford inheritors. Knowing the money may save her father's life, Elinor agrees.

The marriage takes place. Barrett, still believing the lies Lida has told him, finds himself more in love with Elinor than ever. The doctor orders a change of climate for her father and Elinor goes to Aiken with him.

Years before Barrett shielded his half-sister, MARCIA RADNOR, when a youthful romance ended disastrously. Marcia had a son whom Barrett never to reveal the boy's story. Lida Stafford learns about the boy's existence and concludes he is Barrett's son.

Barrett makes an unannounced trip to Aiken. He becomes jealous and tells Elinor he knows all about her affairs. Later he apologizes.

Elinor's father dies that night. The girl is close to collapse and Barrett tries to comfort her. Elinor's mother sends word that she is coming.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIX

LIDA arrived wearing black crepe and looking tragically dramatic. She murmured brokenly of being "so alone now," of the long years and Bentwell Stafford had known together. Elinor listened and her expression chilled.

To keep Lida Stafford from persecuting her daughter would be a genuine task, Barrett saw. After dinner on the evening of her arrival Lida asked Barrett to walk with her on the terrace. Unwillingly he found himself pacing the close-clipped grass by her side.

"We must have a frank talk, Barrett," she began.

"It can't be a long one," he said bluntly. "Elinor may want me."

"You are quite devoted to her, aren't you?" Lida questioned. He noted in the half-twilight the bitter menace of her smile.

"I love her with all my heart," he said loudly.

Lida's comment was a dry, "Delightful!" Suddenly she forgot her tragic role and laughed.

"I don't understand you, Mrs. Stafford," said Barrett, coming to an abrupt standstill.

"You will," she assured him suavely. "I shall be happy to explain!"

Leaning gracefully against the balustrade that guarded the terrace from the sheer drop, she spoke of Gerald and the woman in Connecticut. "I know only the bare facts now," she admitted as she finished speaking, "but I can easily fill in the gaps of the tale—if I need to fill those gaps—"

"That," Barrett realized, meant having Marcia's story broadcast to the world. He stood with teeth set on his lower lip and scowled at the clustered lights in the hollow, lights that he did not see.

The tale might mean the end of Elinor's happiness, for he had promised Marcia that he would not tell Elinor the true story. "How much, is it you want, Mrs. Stafford?"

She laid a hand on his arm and at the touch he drew back. "I'm not going to be unreasonable," she said smoothly, "but I do like to think that when I really need help I can come to dear Elinor's husband—"

"Suppose we omit flowers," he suggested dryly. "I asked how much you want for silence."

Lida admitted that she really did need a little help. Things had gone so badly for her in a financial way. "But I think I could manage with $30,000," she told him.

After a moment's consideration he promised her his check.

"Suppose," Lida suggested sweetly, "we attend to it now?" Smiling ironically Barrett agreed. They were in the living room and he had just given her the check when Elinor appeared in the doorway.

"Inopportune!" Lida murmured. She trailed off languidly. Elinor's expression showed mild surprise but nothing more than that. Barrett understood that her sense of loss was so great she scarcely noticed anything around her.

He drew her arm through his. "Come outside," he urged. "I want to talk to you." Miss Hemmingsway had said, "Divert her. Do all you can to divert her thoughts." She went with him without objection. They were to leave for New York the next day. After that her father would be gone for all time! Elinor could not forget that she had clung to him at her aunt's funeral. She had felt that she and her father—alone of the large group—shared the same emotions. Perhaps her father was the only person who would ever understand her, the only soul who would ever comprehend those needs that can not be voiced. A hunger for trust was one of them. She could not feel that Barrett—thoughtful as he was—quite trusted her. And love without trust was not love at all.

HE settled with her in a broad, low, cretonne covered swing. Dropping an arm around her shoulders, he drew her close.

"Mind that?" he asked.

"No."

"Have you ever been to Cuba?" he wanted to know.

She said she had not.

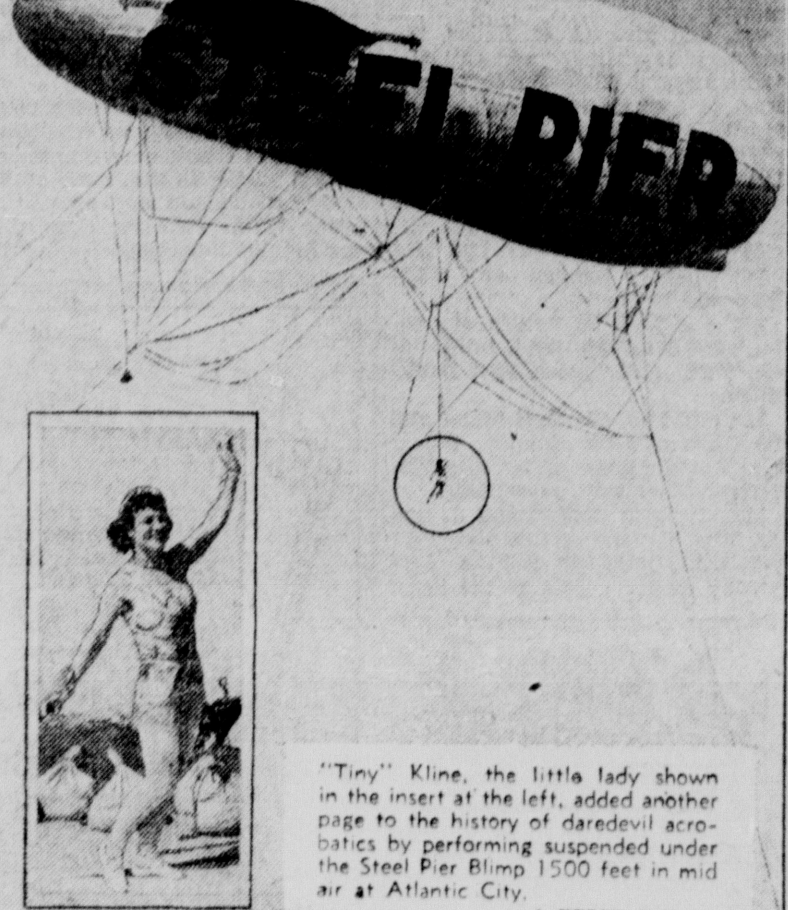

"I think you'd like it," Barrett went on. "It's a gay, pert, laughing sister of Italy. Suppose we start down there in a few days? I'm certain I can get reservations easily. Travel's all going the other way just now. Would you like it, dear?"

"It sounds very pleasant."

"It may be a bit warm but the wind always blows." She felt she would like warmth, she said, as she shivered.

"We'll take long drives. You'll love the country."

"It sounds pleasant," she repeated.

Brief Summary of Last Night's News

ILLINOIS:

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LASALLE—Two men found dead along the Rock Island Railroad tracks near Putnam were identified as Milan Matavy, 64, Putnam, and Eric Vogle, 50, a Chicago printer.

CHICAGO—Edward A. Dato, business associate of the late Edith Rockefeller McCormick and a former trustee of her estate, was named in a suit filed by Newton C.

Farr, present trustee, to recover Gold Coast property of a trust Mrs. McCormick established. The suit said Dato bought the property with trust funds, but held it in his name and that of his wife and he had declined to turn it over to the trust.

CHICAGO—Mrs. Evelyn Kolb Wilmette, one of five children of the late Edward J. McCarthy, paying contractor, was bequeathed his entire estate of $300,000 it was disclosed when the will was admitted to probate over objections of the other four heirs, including J. V. McCarthy, Joliet. Mrs. Kolb was directed in the will to use her own discretion in distributing the estate among the other children.

CHICAGO — A veteran railroad man, David Kelley, 72, died at his home at Rochelle. He spent 32 years in the employ of the Burlington Road and for 30 years was in charge of passenger trains departing from Chicago.

Junior Girls' Golf Match In Semi-Final
Evanston, Ill., July 26—(AP)—The Western Junior Girls' golf tournament today went into the semi-final phase of producing a new champion.

The defending champion, Janet Humphries of Chicago, yesterday was eliminated by Alice Ann Anderson of Kenosha, Wis., who scored a surprisingly easy 6 and 4 victory on the Evanston Golf Club course.

Miss Anderson was matched today with Shirley Ann Johnson of Chicago, who defeated Hilda Liven-good, Danville, Ill., two up.

In the other bracket, the medalist, Dorothy Bell of Evanston, who defeated Edith Estabrook, 12-year-old girl from Dubuque, Ia., one up in 19 holes, was opposed by Goldie Bateman of Milwaukee. Miss Bateman eliminated Ella Mae Williams, Elgin, Ill., one up.

DIXON ASSESSOR RETURNS BOOKS TO SUPERVISOR

Fruin Reports A Drop In Current Values In Township

The total 1933 assessed valuation of Dixon township is $9,783,392, according to the books of George Fruin, township assessor, which were turned over to County Treasurer Sterling Schrock Monday. A drop of 2.4 per cent below last year's total assessment was recorded this year.

Slight increases were made in both land and lot valuations in the township, while personal property values shrank approximately 12 per cent from last year's assessor's figures.

Since local personal property values have maintained practically the same level in total figures, only a very small reduction for the entire county real and personal property valuation was recorded by all 22 township assessors this year. With the completion of the Dixon books here Monday, the board of review were in possession of all assessors' books.

Value of Farm Lands Up
The total 1933 personal property assessed valuation here is $1,865,145, a reduction of $261,631 under last year's valuation of $2,126,776. Farm lands in the township increased from 1922 valuation of $1,275,840 to $1,280,770. Lots south of the river jumped from $5,023,857 to $5,025,092, and lots north of the river in the township increased from $1,598,890 to $1,612,385 for 1933 as compared with 1932. The total increase in real values in the township of $19,660 cut the total personal property reduction to leave a net reduction from the 1932 assessment of $10,025,363 of $241,971.

Among the principal personal property accounts showing reduction this year was the valuation of the City National bank here. Although assessed at $61,468 last year, due to the fact that the bank is now operating under a conservator, it has not as yet been assessed. This, however, will be assessed by the board of review before the final values are approved.

The assessed valuation of the Dixon National bank showed a reduction from last year's valuation of $97,505 to $21,380 for this year. Other minor reductions and fluctuations of property values tended to cut personal property values approximately 12 per cent over last year.

Horses, mules, cattle, hogs and poultry all showed an increase in the number of head assessed, and all except the latter show a decided increase in valuations. Also, more automobiles were assessed here this year than during 1932. A total of 247 cars were listed at a valuation of $209,055 for 1933, and 2313 at a valuation of $204,840 for 1932.

Showing the various assessed values of the different classifications of personal property is the tabulated statement as prepared by assessor Fruin, as follows:

	1933	No. Value	1932	No. Value

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness—1 John, 1:19.

Let guilty men remember their black deeds do lean on crutches made of slender reeds.—John Webster.

WHO ARE AMERICA'S TEN BEST-DRESSED WOMEN?

Fashion Expert Names Three Film Stars, Six Socialites and One Sportswoman On Her List

By JULIA BLANSHARD
New York—(NEA Service)—Who is America's best dressed woman? Who really sets fashions for the millions to follow?

"There is no woman on the stage or in society who functions as an all-around style leader," Wilhelma Cushman, Fashion Director of Bonwit Teller, declared in response to that moot question. "Women today specialize." Miss Cushman pointed out. "It is an age of types. One woman may be marvelous in sports clothes and undistinguished in evening attire. Another may be extremely smart one season and just miss the next. However, though we lack one dominating spirit in America, we have a number of perfect types. Together they set style."

When Miss Cushman, just recently appointed to her present important position, makes such a statement, it carries tremendous value, because of her outstanding reputation as a fashion expert.

'Commutes' to Europe
She has one of the most rounded and original fashion experiences of anyone in the field. She has been a designer for three of New York's most exclusive clothing houses, practically commuting to Europe for new ideas, and has designed fabrics, working out entire new weaves several years ago in Paris, that are just now being used by Paris houses.

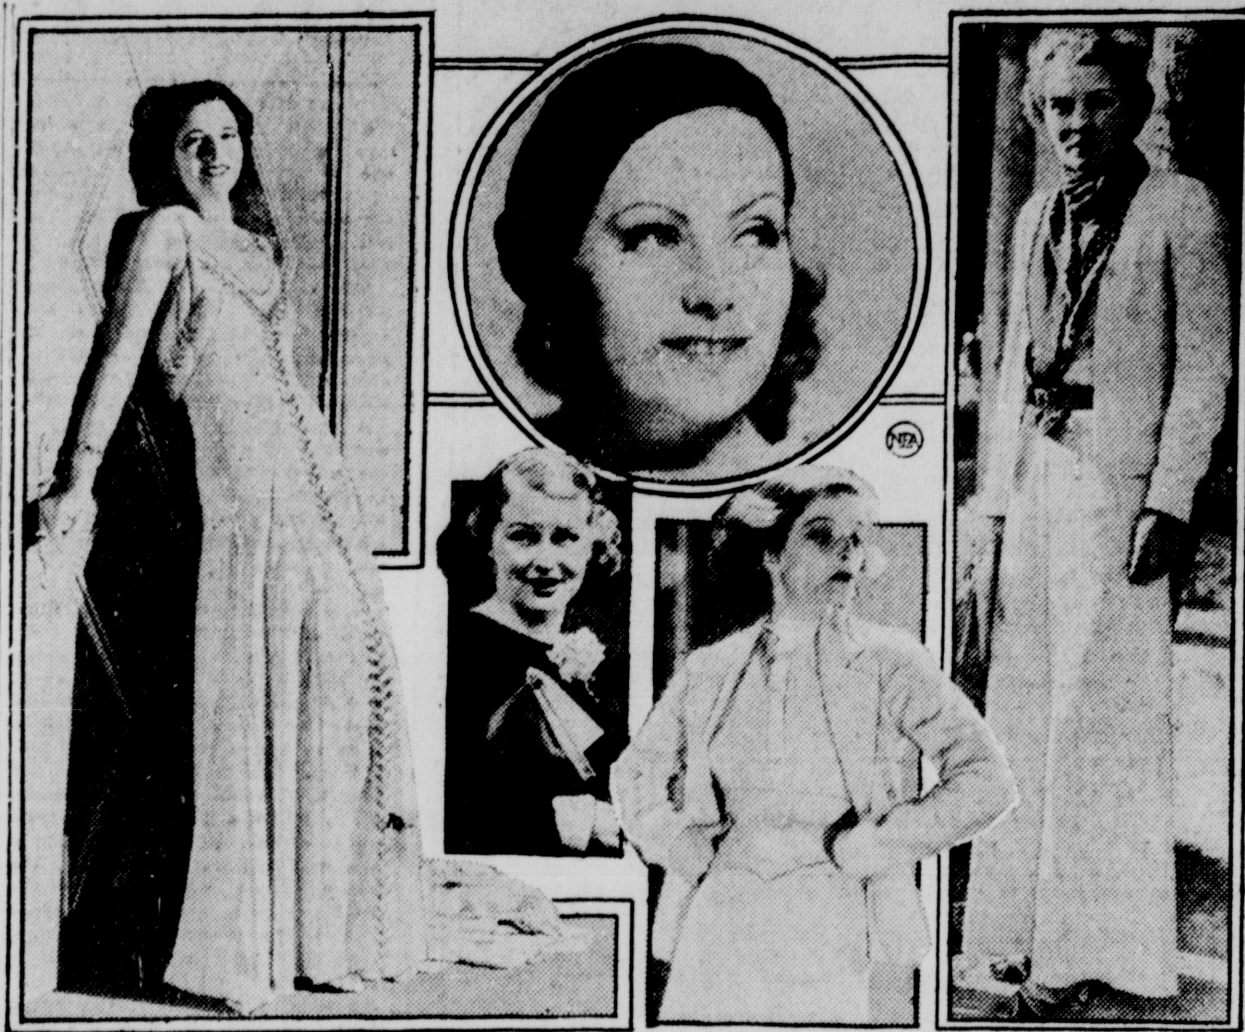

She it was who first introduced linen, back in 1929. She also is responsible for bringing back evening gloves, in their present, thoroughly exciting and fascinating form.

And, important from a style point of view, Miss Cushman was the first fashionist who used debutantes for mannikins, a fact which has influenced the mode tremendously.

Names Ten Best-Dressed Women
Asked to compile a list of the ten best-dressed women in this country who influence what everybody wears, Miss Cushman nominated six society women, one sportswoman, and three screen stars. None from the stage.

The list is as follows: Greta Garbo, Mrs. Harrison Williams, Mrs. Marshall Field, 3rd, Nona Coles McAdoo, Gloria Vanderbilt, Mrs. Vincent Astor, Whitney Bourne, Kay Francis, Katharine Hepburn and Helen Wills Moody.

"I have put Garbo first," she explained, "because without caring much for clothes herself, she influences most women and starts more fads than anyone in America.

Mrs. Williams is "Fearless"
"Garbo was responsible for the long bob which changed millinery. The beret, which she introduced with such nonchalance, is still a best seller. Belted sports coats have been on the market for years but it took Garbo to exploit them. It is Garbo's dominating personality, her expressive manner, even in her indifference to style, that makes what she wears have such character that it is copied."

"Of American society women, I think Mrs. Harrison Williams comes nearest to being a leader because of her originality and fearlessness. At Palm Beach this year she inaugurated her anti-sun campaign, wearing long-sleeved, high-necked beach things, and a cart wheel hat. This will be copied this summer at Newport and Southampton. Next summer, less exclusive watering places will be influenced by her example."

Mrs. Field—Aristocrat
"Mrs. Marshall Field, 3rd, looks exactly as British aristocrats are supposed to look, but seldom do. She has an innate elegance, which dominates even her simplest sports clothes."

Mrs. Astor Best Groomed
"Mrs. Vincent Astor is the perfectly groomed woman. Her whole attire has the stamp of perfection. She is distinguished looking, always. Conventional and cautious in her selections, she never is very startling, but completely dependable."

"Whitney Bourne is the authentic personification of smart Park Avenue in 1933. Sleek, sophisticated, and very modern, she suggests wit, glitter, sparkling conversation and a sip of champagne."

Katharine Hepburn and Kay Francis are outstanding in the cinema world. Both have possibilities of greater distinction. Each is original and fresh in viewpoint. Each has a vivid personality. Miss Hepburn is perfect in sports things and even her evening things have the casual look of sports clothes. Kay Francis is ideal in formal attire.

Conscious Effort Fatal
"Helen Wills Moody deserves a place in the list of best-dressed women because she has a sense of fitness and form as fine as her technique in tennis."

"The woman who influences fashions most is not a conformist," Miss Cushman concluded. "Dramatizing some distinctive characteristic of her own makes her outstanding. Though clothes may be her great enthusiasm, she must somehow convey the impression of casualness."

"Conscious effort is fatal. Nor must she look as if she had just come out of a smart dress shop, newly outfitted from head to toe. She herself, must always be more important than her clothes."

teachers Mrs. Lulu Smith entertained their mothers with a luncheon in the basement of the church. Fourteen were present. A very happy time is reported by all.

Joilet-Dixon district are camping at the camp grounds this week. Rev. George Green of Ottawa has the camp in charge.

Friday evening the class of 1930 of the local high school held a reunion with supper at the Colonial Inn at Grand Detour after which they went to the Dixon theater. Those present were Merle Morgan, Edwin Patch, Charles Hepler, Clair Hood, Lester Melkie, Dallas Sultz, Clark Phillips, Olive Weybright, Lucille Buck, Arlene Beachley, Hazel Bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beister entertained Sunday evening with a six o'clock dinner and weenie roast. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wendell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gleim of this place community and Mr. and Mrs. George King of Lee Center.

Oscar Nass and daughter, Miss Ethel and Mrs. Gust Reinhardt and Mrs. Harry Gleim were business callers in Rochelle Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chamberlain and sons of DeKalb were visiting in Franklin Grove at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Reinhardt and Mr. and Mrs. William Gunnerman.

There is no better place for a picnic than at the camp grounds. Plenty of good drinking water and the nice clean pool, the cheapest sport these hot summer days. Children under twelve only ten cents, adults fifteen cents for an entire afternoon of pleasure. The pool is open every afternoon and evening Sunday included.

Mrs. Lloyd Group had a surprise picnic Saturday afternoon on her daughter, Miss Barbara, at being her birthday anniversary. After a treasurer hunt they went to the camp grounds where ice cream and cake were enjoyed. Ten young ladies were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Godfrey and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Godfrey of near Chana were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Blocher, north of town.

The Crusaders class of the Brethren Sunday school with their teacher went to the Pines Sunday morning where they had the lesson and then a picnic dinner. Earl Burk is the teacher and he sure does make things very interesting for the lads.

Mrs. Harry MacManus came Saturday for a few days visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LaForrest Meredith. On Wednesday in company with Mr. and Mrs. Meredith she left for her home at Pittsburg, Pa. The Merediths expect to be gone about ten days. Edwin Hain will substitute on the rural route for Mr. Meredith.
